READY FOR AN ADVENTURE LIKE NO OTHER?

Armstrong County is the perfect place to experience the best of the outdoors, history, and small-town charm all rolled into one! Picture this: You're paddling along winding waterways, casting your line in serene lakes, or cruising down scenic rail trails. Ready to tee off? Our stunning golf courses nestled in the hills are waiting for you! History buffs, step back in time and experience our fascinating museums, historic landmarks, and charming towns that whisper stories of the past.

But that's just the beginning! Ready to relax and enjoy the local flavor? Experience Armstrong County's best with a glass of wine at one of our local wineries or a crisp craft brew at one of our favorite breweries. Stroll through our boutiques for one-of-a-kind finds, or savor mouthwatering meals at cozy restaurants. And, of course, don't miss out on the irresistible fresh-baked treats and coffee at our bakeries and cafés!

Family fun is never far behind! Experience the thrill of roller skating, enjoy an ice cream cone on a warm afternoon, and end the night with a classic drive-in movie. No matter your vibe, there's always something fun waiting for you in Armstrong County.

At Experience Armstrong, Inc., we're here to make sure every moment of your trip is one to remember. Stop by our Welcome Center in Kittanning, give us a call, shoot us an email, or visit ArmstrongCounty.com to get the scoop on maps, tips, and everything you need to plan your perfect getaway!

Small Town CHARM

APOLLO

History runs deep in Armstrong County's southernmost borough! Settled in 1790 and originally called Warren, it got a name change in 1848. The Pennsylvania Canal, finished in 1828, brought a boom to the area—its stone remnants still stand at Roaring Run. Want a real blast from the past? The Drake Log Cabin, one of the first homes built, is still here to tell its story.

CADOGAN

Born from coal and resilience, Cadogan has been standing strong since 1922! Once a booming mining town churning out 3,000 tons of coal daily by 1955, this one-square-mile community refuses to fade. Named after Sir Walter Cadogan, it's "too tough to die" and full of pride, with 243 residents keeping its spirit alive.

DAYTON

Dayton, near the Armstrong/Indiana County line, blends history, tradition, and a touch of Amish culture! Since 1873, this borough has been home to the beloved Dayton Fair. The Marshall family played a big role in shaping the town. Visitors can learn more about the history of the family and community while visiting the Thomas Hindman Marshall House.

FORD CITY

Perched along the Allegheny River, this vibrant borough was built in 1887 by John B. Ford as a company town for Pittsburgh Plate Glass. Skilled glassworkers from across Europe flocked here, making it one of the fastest-growing communities in the nation—hitting 3,000 residents in just a decade! Ford's factory created a rare sense of unity, and today, that rich cultural mix is celebrated through lively community events.

FREEPORT

Originally Todd's Town, this lively riverside spot got its name when the founder vowed, "No dockage fees—ever!" Sitting where Buffalo Creek meets the Allegheny River, it's a paradise for outdoor lovers. Whether you're paddling the water, biking the scenic rail trails, or just soaking up the views.

KITTANNING

First a key battleground, then a booming trade center, this riverfront town has never slowed down! Now the county seat, it's packed with great food, local shops, and plenty of ways to enjoy the water. Whether you're fishing, boating, or exploring downtown, there's always something to do.

LEECHBURG

Leechburg has been making waves since 1827 when David L. Leech's canal project put it on the map! From steel and coal to railroads and shipping, this town kept booming. Today, visitors can explore local history at the museum, browse unique shops, or hit the water for some outdoor fun.

PARKER

Allegheny River hillside: a story in views. Once farmland, now a tranquil retreat. Breathtaking scenery and outdoor adventures await. Ideal for events or relaxing getaways, with hiking and scenic overlooks.

A Journey Through Pennsylvania's Wild Beauty

Spanning 134 miles from Forest County to the southern tip of Armstrong County, the Baker Trail is an adventure waiting to be explored. This state-designated hiking trail takes you on a dynamic journey across six counties, weaving through dense forests, open farmland, rugged Jeep trails, winding dirt roads, and smooth paved sections. Along the way, immerse yourself in the ever-changing landscape as the trail hugs scenic rivers and meandering creeks. Whether you're chasing solitude in the woods or seeking the thrill of discovery, the Baker Trail delivers.

BUTLER-FREEPORT COMMUNITY TRAIL

An Unforgettable Ride

The morning sun filters through the trees as you glide along the Butler Freeport Community Trail, the hum of your tires blending with birdsong. The trail is designated an Important Bird Area by the Audubon Society of Western Pennsylvania. The path winds past towering rock cuts, streams, and remnants of the old railroad, each turn revealing another hidden gem and wildflowers. A white-tailed deer pauses ahead before vanishing into the woods—a fleeting, magical moment. By the end of your ride, your legs are tired, but your spirit is refreshed. Here, nature and history unite for an adventure that stays with you long after the trail ends.

Butler Freeport Community Trail is a 21-mile rails-to-trails project, primarily crushed limestone for non-motorized use for biking, hiking, and geocaching in Armstrong and Butler Counties.

A speedboat with a black and white hull is moving across a calm lake, leaving a white wake. A person is water skiing, being towed by the boat. The background is a dense green forest. The title 'WATERWAYS' is in large, bold, white capital letters, and 'and Outdoor Adventures' is in a smaller, yellow, cursive font below it. A decorative dotted line in blue and yellow curves around the text.

Freeport

Freeport, originally called "Todd's Town," was established in 1786 when David and William Todd purchased land along the Allegheny River.

Later, in 1794, they expanded their holdings by acquiring Todd's Island nearby. In 1792, Captain John Craig built a blockhouse on what is now Riverside Drive, offering local settlers a refuge against Indigenous tribes, including the Miami of Ohio, Delaware, Erie, Seneca, and Munsie, who sought to defend their lands from encroachment.

The town's layout was surveyed in 1796, with 135 lots marked. To attract more settlers, David Todd introduced a unique policy: boats, rafts, and barges could dock for free along the riverfront, giving rise to the name "Freeport." The town officially adopted the name when it was incorporated in 1833, becoming a center of timber trade and gaining a reputation as a "diamond in the rough."

During the 1830s through the mid-1800s, Freeport earned a rough-and-tumble reputation. Timber workers who had spent winters logging in the mountains would come to town, filling its three hotel saloons with tales of adventure. This lively history has become a cherished part of Freeport's heritage in Armstrong County.

Walk back into HISTORY

No matter where you are in Armstrong County, you're walking in the footsteps of history.

During the French and Indian War, the village of Kit-Han-Ne was the center for Indian raids on the white settlements in Western Pennsylvania and parts of Maryland and Virginia. Colonel John Armstrong led 300 frontier troops in an attack on the village on the morning of September 8, 1756. Most of the village was destroyed and the tribe leader, Captain Jacobs, was killed. And although Armstrong suffered many losses, the battle was considered a victory because the tribe left the village and a majority of the raids ceased.

Armstrong County, named for Colonel Armstrong, was formed in 1800 from parts of Lycoming, Allegheny, and Westmoreland counties. The county is home to many historical sites, including the Battle of Kittanning, the childhood home of Nellie Bly, Drake Log Cabin, St. Patrick's Roman Catholic Church, and more.

ST PATRICK'S ROMAN CATHOLIC CHURCH

Sugar Creek
A whisper from the past echoes in Sugarcreek: the tale of a Roman Catholic Church, built in 1805. Added to the historical registry in 1978, its walls hold the echoes of generations past. Walk through its hallowed spaces, and feel the presence of history.

BRADY'S BEND IRON COMPANY FURNACES

1047 PA-68, East Brady
Where the Allegheny bends, iron was born: the roar of 1840, when stone giants awoke in Brady's Bend. Blast furnaces, forged from time and toil, rose against the landscape, soon joined by a mighty rolling mill. Placed on the historical registry in 1980, their silent stones whisper tales of fire and steel. Walk among these industrial relics, and feel the pulse of history's forge.

ST. STEPHEN'S CHURCH

Route 68, Brady's Bend
In Brady's Bend Township, St. Stephen's Church stands, a testament etched in 1867 sandstone. Gothic Revival arches and lines rise, a visual echo of a bygone era. Transformed in 1925, its halls now resonate with the voices of community gatherings. Added to the National Register in 1980, it is more than a building; it's a living chapter of Brady's Bend's history.

ARMSTRONG COUNTY COURTHOUSE & JAIL

Kittanning's courthouse stands bold, a mid-19th century powerhouse. Built 1858-1860, its brick and stone facade radiates strength. The adjacent jail, a decade later, whispers tales of 24 locked cells—history's stark reminder! National Register, 1981.

DRAKE LOG CABIN

Williams Aly, Apollo
The year 1816 whispers through the aged timbers of Apollo's historic log cabin. A single room, 1.5 stories high, showcases a gable roof and an interior stone chimney, a testament to early American craft. Added to the National Register in 1983, this cabin stands as a living echo of Apollo's pioneering spirit.

BRIDGE BETWEEN MADISON & MAHONING TOWNSHIPS

Mahoning's mighty span: 1895 concrete arch roars! Where Madison and Mahoning Townships collide, a testament to 1895 engineering rises: the Mahoning Creek Arch. A silent guardian, listed on the National Register in 1988, it stands as a lasting echo of a bygone era, where stone met ingenuity to conquer the flow of time.

COLWELL CUT VIADUCT

Three concrete spans, built in 1922, launch across the landscape: Hogback Hill Bridge! Crossing the Pittsburgh & Shawmut Railroad in Mahoning Township, this structure, earned its place on the National Register in 1988. A historic leap of engineering.

FORD CITY ARMORY

301 10th St, Ford City
The 1930 Ford City Armory, a Joseph F. Kuntz masterpiece, now pulses as 10th Street Station, a sought-after banquet hall. Added to the National Register in 1989, this architectural gem stands as a vibrant testament to Ford City's past and present.

ALLEGHENY RIVER LOCKS & DAMS NO. 5-9

History surges here! Five locks and dams, powerhouses of river navigation, erupt as historic landmarks! National Register, 2000. Witness the river's industrial might, dive into their stories, and feel the Allegheny's raw energy! For the full river blast, navigate to lrp.usace.army.mil—where the legacy roars.

KITTANNING PASSENGER STATION AND FREIGHT DEPOT

The Kittanning Passenger Station and Freight Depot, built in 1895 by the Pennsylvania Railroad, are iconic landmarks that fueled the region's growth. With their tough, late 19th-century railroad design, these structures were built to last, withstanding the test of time and heavy use. Once the heart of Kittanning's transportation hub, they helped drive the area's development. Listed on the National Register of Historic Places on January 3, 2025, these historic giants stand proud, preserving Kittanning's past for future generations to admire.

15 Historic Places on the National Register

The National Register of Historic Places is the nation's official list of cultural resources worthy of preservation. Authorized under the National Historic Preservation Act of 1966, it is part of a national program to coordinate and support public and private efforts to identify, evaluate, and protect our historic and archeological resources. Properties listed in the Register include districts, sites, buildings, structures, and objects that are significant in American history, architecture, archeology, engineering, and culture. Armstrong County has 15 historic sites listed on the National Register of Historic Places.
